R. Cocco's handmade strings are the product of the best possible materials and the design methods perfected by its founder Richard Cocco Sr.

In the early days of the electric bass it was Richard Cocco who developed the techniques for winding bass strings for the new instruments early adopters.

For ten years Alfonso Anecchavio worked and collaborated with Mr. Cocco, learning the secrets of the trade. And it's in the hands of Anecchavio that the company's founder left its continuing legacy. With a strict dedication to quality, and a steadfast devotion to their creator's approach to string-making,

R. Cocco string produces the finest handmade string you can find for your instrument.
